What is CGF?

CGF exists to come alongside college golfers and coaches and help them explore issues of faith and purpose in an incredibly fun and non-threatening environment. We believe the most fulfilling life is found in a genuine relationship with God and hope to show how different this is than simply being "religious" or going to church. Our staff would love to meet you and help you process anything related to golf, life, and faith!

If you have questions, please reach out to one of our staff today!

OUR ACTIVITIES

Retreats

A CGF Retreat is a FREE 3-4 day getaway for college golfers and coaches hosted by the following PGA Tour Pros:

Ben Crane, Davis Love III, Zach Johnson, Stewart Cink, Michael Thompson, Webb Simpson, Justin Leonard, Cameron Tringale, Scott Stallings and Tom Lehman.

You will not only get to know these professional golfers, but you will also experience the time of your life with up to 50 other guys just like yourself. We host these retreats for you to build friendships with other college golfers and to explore issues of faith and purpose.

Team Visits

CGF staff would love to visit you on campus or at the course to talk about golf, life, and faith. Look for our staff at college tournaments around the country or reach out to your local staff to schedule a team visit.

Tournament Banquets

Come hear a PGA Tour pro share about his golf career and how his faith has impacted all areas of his life.

Discipleship

If you are interested in taking your faith to a deeper level, ask a CGF staff member to mentor you and help you grow in your relationship with God.

Bible Studies

Find out how the Bible is relevant for your life today, as CGF staff lead weekly Bible studies in their home regions, on Zoom, and at tournament sites throughout the country.

Life Coaching

CGF staff are available to help you process questions related to golf, faith, family, dating, relationships, personal ethics, career planning, and life after college.
